CONTENTS

No. 1.—MARCH.

RAVEN, R. W.—Secondary Malignant Disease of the Heart 1

PATEY, D. H., AND DYSON, W. H.—The Prognosis of Carcinoma of the Breast in Relation to the Type of Operation Performed 7

ROBINSON, A. M.—The Excretion of 17-Ketosteroids in Men of Different Age-Groups, with Special Reference to Prostatic Cancer 13

BOYLAND, E., CLEGG, J. W., KOLLER, P. C., RHODEN, E., AND WARWICK, O. H.—The Effects of Chloroethylamines on Tumours, with Special Reference to Bronchogenic Carcinoma 17

GUNZ, F. W.—Culture of Human Leukaemic Blood Cells In Vitro; Technique and the Growth Curve 29

GUNZ, F. W.—Culture of Human Leukaemic Blood Cells In Vitro. Normal and Abnormal Cell Division and Maturation 41

SELBIE, F. R., AND ROBINSON, R. H. M.—Incidence of Carcinoma in Transmissible Papillomatosis of the Domestic Rabbit 48

ARMSTRONG, E. C.—Observations on the Nature of the Oestrous Cycle and on the Effect upon it of the Milk Factor, in Mice of Two Inbred Strains, Differing in Mammary Cancer Incidence 59

KIRBY, A. H. M.—Biological Tests With Cholesterol Esters of Unsaturated Acids 70

LUDFORD, R. J.—Factors Determining the Action of Colchicine on Tumour Growth 75

No. 2.—JUNE.

HESTON, W. E.—Role of Genes and their Relationship to Extrachromosomal Factors in the Development of Mammary Gland Tumours in Mice . . 87

KORTEWEG, R.—Genetically Determined Differences in Hormone Production a Possible Factor Influencing the Susceptibility to Mammary Cancer in Mice 91

DMOCHOWSKI, L.—Mammary Tumour Inducing Factor and Genetic Constitution 94

GORER, P. A.—The Significance of Studies with Transplanted Tumours . . 103

HOGREFFE, G.—Genetic Studies on Leukaemia in Mice 108

DEMEREC, M.—Mutations Induced by Carcinogens 114

DARLINGTON, C. D.—The Plasmagene Theory of the Origin of Cancer . . 118

BILLINGHAM, R. E., AND MEDAWAR, P. B.—" Infective " Transformations of Cells 126

CARR, J. G.—Chemically Induced Mutation 132

GREENWOOD, A. W., BLYTH, J. S. S., AND CARR, J. G.—Indications of the Heritable Nature of Non-Susceptibility to Rous Sarcoma in Fowls . . 135

KEMP, T.—Heredity in Human Cancer 144

KOLLER, P. C.—Inheritance of Xeroderma and its Chromosome Mechanism . 149

BUSK, T., CLEMMESEN, J., AND NIELSEN, A.—Twin Studies and Other Genetical Investigations in the Danish Cancer Registry 156

SMITHERS, D. W.—Family Histories of 459 Patients with Cancer of the Breast . 163

PENROSE, L. S., MACKENZIE, H. J., AND KARN, M. N.—A Genetical Study of Human Mammary Cancer 168

No. 3.—SEPTEMBER.

KENNAWAY, E. L.—The Racial and Social Incidence of Cancer of the Uterus . 177

HARNETT, W. L.—A Statistical Report on 2529 Cases of Cancer of the Breast . 212

FODDEN, J. H.—The Duodenal Spread of Pyloric Carcinoma 239

CURETON, R. J. R.—Squamous Cell Carcinoma Occurring in Asbestosis of the Lung 249

SALAMAN, M. H.—Haemagglutination by Extracts of Tumours and of Some Normal Tissues 253

BRUZZONE, S., ELGUETA, H., IGLESIAS, R., AND LIPSCHUTZ, A.—Oestrogen-induced Fibroids of the Thoracic Serosa 267

HALL, W. H.—The Role of Initiating and Promoting Factors in the Pathogenesis of Tumours of the Thyroid 273

CRABTREE, H. G.—Some Effects of Thiol-Compounds on Tumour Induction by Carcinogenic Hydrocarbons 281

KIRBY, A. H. M.—Further Experiments in Mice with p-Diazoaminobenzene . 290

KIRBY, A. H. M.—The Action of 2-Aminofluorene in Three Pure Strains of Mice 294

IVERSEN, S.—The Metabolism of 3:4-Benzpyrene in Human Beings after Intravenous Injection 301

No. 4.—DECEMBER.

BADGER, G. M.—The Carcinogenic Hydrocarbons: Chemical Constitution and Carcinogenic Activity 309

MITCHELL, J. S.—Clinical Trials of Tetra-Sodium 2-Methyl-1:4-Naphthohydroquinone Diphosphate, in Conjunction with X-ray Therapy . . . 351

ROBINSON, ALICE M.—Polarographic Analysis of Normal and Pathological Sera 360

LASNITZKI, I., AND WILKINSON, J. H.—The Effect of Acridine Derivatives on Growth and Mitoses of Cells in vitro 369

SELBIE, F. R., ROBINSON, R. H. M., AND R. E. SHOPE.—Shope Papilloma Virus: Reversion of Adaptation to Domestic Rabbit by Passage through Cottontail 375

SELBIE, F. R., AND THACKRAY, A. C.—Lung Adenomas Induced by Urethane in CBA Mice 380

FLAKS, J.—Influence of Testosterone Propionate on the Induction of Subcutaneous Tumours in Mice by 20-Methylcholanthrene 386

FLAKS, J.—The Inhibitory Influence of 20-Methylcholanthrene on the Action of Chorionic Gonadotrophin on the Ovaries of Immature Mice . . 395
